New York Power Authority ²	1931	Public waterpower suggested by Charles Evans Hughes in 1907; Teddy Roosevelt in 1914 and Alfred E. Smith in the 1920s tried to push the legislature to approve state authority for hydropower. Then Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Power Authority Act in 1931. The St. Lawrence-Franklin D. Roosevelt Power Project was completed in 1958 in cooperation with Ontario Hydro. The 1957 Niagara Redevelopment Act allowed NYPA to contstruct the Niagara Power Project, which became operational in 1961. NYPA has built and operated several other projects over the last 60 years.	Power Authority Act; Public Authorities Law	Board of 7 trustees, 5 of whom shall serve respectively for terms of 1, 2,3, 4, and 5, to be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The 6th and 7th trustees shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, and shall serve initial terms of 1 and 2 years respectively; Unpaid, except for the chairman	Contracts negotiated between NYPA and buyer; Approved by governor and state legislature	Contracts must set rates to cover "Interest on and amortization and reserve charges sufficient within fifty years of the date of issuance to retire the bonds of the power authority issued for the project"	2
Salt River Project ³	1902	Created as part of the National Reclamation Act of 1902 under President Theodore Roosevelt; 1917 - Transferred operation to the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association. Established for the economic development of the region and as part of the effort to develop water infrastructure in the American West. The Project is comprised of 2 divisions: Salt River Valley Water Users' Association (the "Association"), a private water corporation formed in 1903; and the Salt River Project Agricultural Improvement and Power District (the "District"), an agricultural improvement district and a political subdivision of the State of Arizona formed in 1937.	Arizona Revised Statutes, Title 30 and Title 45	Salt River Valley Water Users' Association: landowners elect a president, a vice president, a 10-member board of governors and 30 council members. One governor and three council members are elected from each of the 10 voting districts. The president and vice president are elected at-large, meaning they are elected by the sum of the votes from all voting districts. Salt River Project Agricultural Improvement and Power District: landowners elect a president, a vice president, a 14-member board of directors and 30 council members. One director and three council members are elected from each of the 10 voting divisions. The president, vice president and four remaining directors are elected at-large from all voting divisions.
